

A COLLECTION OF SOMALI LITERATURE
MAINLY FROM SAYID MOHAMED ABDILLE HASSAN

PREPARED BY
M. H. I. GALAAL

Andrzejewski's Comment

This is a photocopy of a typescript which was published about 1964 by Muuse Galaal himself in mimeographed form in Mogadishu. It is very important since it provides versions of well-known oral poems which are divergent from those published by Sheekh Jaamac Cumar Ciise and Yaasiin Cismaan Keenadiid, and some poems so far unpublished.

: -1) (a)-:

The following verses are a selection from a large collection of Somali folk literature and traditions accumulated during the past several years. They are among the most popular folk literature and contain a great deal of historical and traditional data. In fact most of them came from the literature of our great national hero, Sayid Mohamed Abdilleh Hassan. Other poets mentioned here include;

Salaan-arrabey,
Ali-Duh,
Farah Nur,
Qaman Bulhan,
Ismail Mirreh
Abdi Gahair,
Abdillahi Musa, and Elmi Bodery.

SHORT NOTES ON THE MAIN ITEMS OF THIS COLLECTION.

- Page 3 (a) A short introduction followed by a KEY.
- “ 6 A stirring Musafo by Sayid Mohamed Abdilleh Hassan, composed to the tribes who sided with the British during the Dervishes Campaign, warning them against eternal punishment awaiting them as a result of their refusal to join him in fighting that holy war.
- “ 6-7 An extract from an excellent Gabay by Omer-Australia showing some of the values of camels in Somali life.
- “ 7-9 The famous Gabay known as, “Jiinley” or “Hhagar Jiqa” composed by Sayid Mohamed Abdilleh, which shows the tragic feeling of the Dervishes on Boqor Ismain’s reguff to allow the Dervishes to use the Majertein manoeuvre ambushes against the enemy, as he has promised.
- “ 9-11 The famous Jiifto by Sayid Mohamed Abdilleh, in which he answered a letter sent to him by the British. This letter contained the British intention on five major issues prevailing at the time. These issues were:
- (a) The place of the Ogaden tribe in the war against the Sayid.
 - (b) The Warsangeli as a British protected tribe.
 - (c) The hostile activity of the Hunters, a large group of people who, having been subjected to continuous attacks from both the British and the Dervishes for a long time, became destitute, and were forced to live on hunting wild animals, collecting nuts, and by attacking anyone they could.
 - (d) The Sayid’s repeated demand for the return of the Dhow belonging to him, which he felt to have been seized by the British at the Gulf of Aden, as a condition for any peace negotiation.
 - (e) The British desire that Sayid should return the ... of the Habar Yonis, looted by the Dervishes at the battle of Bannano.
- “ 11-12 The famous Gabay of insult against the Isak tribes for refusing to join him in fighting the foreigners, composed by Sayid Mohamed.
- “ 12-13 A short Gabay by the Sayid, in which he defended himself against the Isak accusation that he treated them unjustly and harshly.
- “ 13-14 A famous Gabay by Ali-Duh, showing the nobleness of his tribe before it was destroyed in the 21 years of Dervishes war.
- “ 14-15 One of the popular Gabays of Salan-Arrabey showing the grudges he had with his brother-in-law, Mohamed Dobleh.
- “ 16-17 The famous Gabay by Sayid Mohamed Abdilleh, marking the victory he had over the Habar Majertein tribes at the battle of Habar-Humbulleh.
- “ 17-18 An excellent Geeraar by Qaaje-Balas, showing the fate of the British forces he was serving in the battle of Gunburo, when Qaaje himself received serious wounds. In that battle eleven Br. companies are believed to (have?) been almost annihilated.
- “ 18-20 A long Geeraar by Sayid Mohamed Abdilleh, to one of his favourite horses.
- “ 21 A Geeraar by Sayid Mohamed Abdilleh, in which he rejoiced at the victory he had over the British in the battle of Dul-Madobeh, when Corfield, the Commander of the British Forces was among those killed.

- Page 22-24 A stirring Gabay by Sayid Mohamed Abdilleh, showing his feeling of distress, resulted from his loss of confidence with his disciples relatives or otherwise.
- “ 24 A short Geeraar by Ismail Mirreh in which he wanted to calm down the temper of one of his relatives, who sought revenge against neighbouring tribes.
- “ 25-27 A long Geeraar by Sayid Mohamed Abdilleh, marking the launching of his attack which fought the British in the battle of Dulmadooble.
- “ 27-29 Apparently one of the last Gabays composed by Sayid Mohamed Abdilleh. It was meant among other things:
- (a) To lighten the spirit of his troops who were beginning to feel desperate as a result of the continuous defeats they suffered during previous two years,
 - (b) To woo the Ogaden tribe to shelter him until he gathered strength to continue his campaign.
- “ 29 A short Geeraar by Farah Nuur, showing the Somali love for patience in dealing with man.
