Any organization or person who gives up or expelled from the status of being a supporter or contributor, will not be entitled to any reimbursement of contributions or subscriptions or any part thereof or any value contributed by him at any time.

The management of Dal-daddhis shall be vested with the responsibility for all the properties, funds and investments acquired in the name of the organization. However, to promote agricultural development in Somalia, Dal-daddhis shall seek and endeavor to facilitate collaboration and cooperation with other indigenous and international NGOs, in particular, the organization shall work together with funding organizations as equal partners in designing programmes and development projects. Dal-daddhis will cooperate or collaborate with any organization and will make agreements with them to obtain any aid, in the form of materials, funds, services and/or manpower in order to run its projects in compliance with the set organizational objectives.

XI. Founders

The founders, who function both in the Advisory Board and the Executive Board, shall be consulted in all decisions as the final authority in the decision making of the organization's affairs. They may overrule any decision if they have reason to believe that it is against the interests and the objectives of the organization. The founders shall remain as the supervisors of the organization for life (their names are appended to this constitution).

XII. Auditing

An auditor who is not an office holder of the organization, will be appointed by the Executive Board for every year to audit all the records, accounts and the books of the organization.

The treasurer or the accountant of the organization will produce all the necessary documents to be audited to the auditor and the auditor shall be expected to either certify the records as correct and vouched in accordance with organization's policies and proper accounting principles or state his opinion and findings to the contrary.

XIII. Amendments:

The constitution of the organization can be amended, if the amendment so proposed is approved by the majority of the Executive Board and the Founders.

XIV. Dissolution:

If the Executive Board, with prior consultation of the founders and the Advisory Board, decides unanimously that the object of this constitution cannot and will not continue to be carried out or at any time determines that it is advisable to discontinue the organization, the assets remaining after all debts & liabilities are satisfied, could be given to a charitable organization, or shall be supervised by the Founders in the best way appropriate.
